

Student Parking Story-Board

Sidney gets in her car at 8:00 and heads to USC for class at 8:30.

There was traffic and she's got 10 minutes to get to class!

She drives to the nearest parking lot like always, but there's no space since she's running late!

She goes to the next parking lot, then another, and finally finds a space in a parking lot 7 minutes from her class!

She wasted time finding the space and now she has to spend an additional 7 minutes walking to class. She was counted as absent because she missed attendance check!

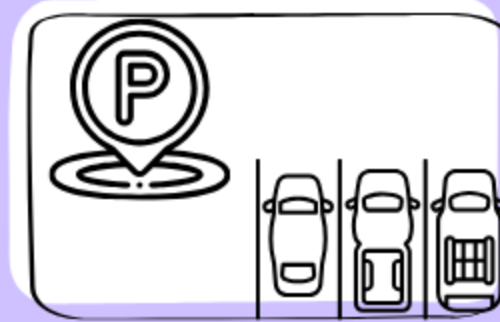

This could have been prevented using our app, because it would've told her where the spot was to begin with, so she would've just walked the 7 minutes and made it to class on time!

PETE SAVES PARKING DISASTER

- * Peter was waking up at 7:30 to begin his day when and see a notification

- * he needed to tend to an alert that came up on UofSC parking app

- * a student was having issues connecting to GPS with the app

- * Pete Quickly got to work on a solution

- * After adjusting some networking issues he quickly had it fixed

- * and the student was able to find a parking space
